

I do not agree with the moving of the code to Extra only. Also I can not see grandfathering Technicians to General without first taking a test to show they have abbtained the knowlege to operate at this level. The restucturing to only three classes is a good ideal though.